

Görge Hasselhoff; Knut Martin Stünkel

Workshop Religious Language

Der Workshop hat zum Ziel, Sprachformen innerhalb der mittelalterlichen Philosophie zu beleuchten. Im Fokus stehen dabei v.a. jüdische, islamische und christliche Traditionen.

The workshop intends to scrutinise forms of language in mediaeval philosophy. The main focus lies on Jewish, Muslim and Christian traditions.

Thursday, May 24th, 2012

- |                         |  |
|-------------------------|--|
| 14:00-14:15 (2 p.m.)    | Welcome and Introduction   |
| 14:15-15:30 (2:15 p.m.) | Gerhard Endreß, Bochum: "God's Speech and Prophetic Language in Early Islamic Theology and Philosophy"                                   |
| 15:45-17:00 (3:45 p.m.) | Beate Ulrike La Sala, Potsdam: "Yehudah Halevi and Al-Ghazali on Possible Ways to Speak About God"                                       |
| 17:15-18:30 (5:15 p.m.) | Yossef Schwartz, Tel Aviv: "The Mystical and Magical Interpretations of Maimonides' Divine Attributes in Hebrew and Latin Scholasticism" |
| 18:45-20:00 (6:45 p.m.) | Görge Hasselhoff, Bochum: "Translating Religious Terms into Latin: Remarks on the 'Rashi Latinus'"                                       |

Friday, May 25th, 2012

- |                          |  |
|--------------------------|--|
| 9:00-10:15 (9 a.m.)      | Jörg Plassen, Bochum: "Sinicised Mādhyamaka or Rather Indianized Indianized Taoism? Fa-lang (507-581) and his Successors on the Language of the Chung-lun" |
| 10:30-11:45 (10:30 a.m.) | Günter Bader, Gomadingen: „Johannes 1,1 in den Sermones des Nikolaus von Kues“   |
| 12:00-13:15 (12 p.m.)    | Knut Martin Stünkel, Bochum: "Towards a Theory of the Meta-Communicative Elements in Medieval Religious Dialogues"   |

Date: May 24th-25th, 2012

Place: FNO 02 / 40-46

Bundesministerium
für Bildung
und Forschung

DYNAMICS IN THE

HISTORY OF RELIGIONS